Describe the most significant challenge you have faced and the steps you have taken to overcome this challenge	Studying abroad is the experience that has turned my life upside down, but in a positive way. when I travelled the first time I was 17, taking all of these responsibilities of finding a flat, paying bills and managing my budget was not easy. I forced myself out of my comfort zone and started seeking help from people around me and eventually managed everything and this has become my life.
You are required to spend the next year of your life in either the past or the future. What year would you travel and why?	It is kind of a difficult question, as I had many good years but I already have experienced a lot when I lived them so why would I choose to live these experiences again even if I would act differently in many occasions, but the question is will I learn something new? I don't think so. So my answer is that I would choose the future to live new experiences and learn new things that will add to my life and my personality.
What would you say is your greatest talent or skill? how have you developed and demonstrated that talent over time	Probably this is the most question I could be asked, a talent I don't think I can do something specific. But earlier this year I decided to start learning how to play piano, and started taking privet classes but because of the college pressure I had to stop. From time to time I watch YouTube videos and teach myself. Another thing I believe that it worths mentioning is that I love traveling, and I don't know if it's considered to be a talent or not but I like arranging my own trips as well as helping people surround me with their bookings and plans.
What have you done to make your school or community a better place	If the question means school as high school, I finished high school 5 years ago with GPA of 99.47 which means that I am one of those who gave the school a good image among other schools, I was one of the best students as I used to participate in school events by arranging them as well as working with them. If it means the school I am doing my current level -college-, then I don't work with them directly but I do help the college societies /clubs, as I cannot ensure that I will have enough free time to give it to them so I help whenever I have the chance to do so.As well as participating in different events or conferences.However, I thins the idea of that I am a medical student is enough to tell people that I am working on something will add and help the community and change many people life.
What makes you happy?	This is a very wide question, at this stage of my life the things that can change my mood or effect happiness is my grades or whenever I achieve something I want and worked on it hardly. During free times or breaks I travel, engaging with different people from different cultures and experiencing new things makes my happy and satisfied.
