Describe the most significant challenge you have faced and the steps you have taken to overcome this challenge	The most significant challenge I have faced is the death of my uncle. My uncle was like a father to me and I loved him like he was. His death was very sudden and when he passed away I was sad I did not get to see him because he lives in Jordan, where my family and I visit every vacation. My heart broke when he passed away and I did not comprehend how I can continue my life as it was. I kept in mind that I should not give up and that life goes on, and tragic things like this occur everyday, all the time. I also thought about how other people have it much worse than me, and I should be thankful that my uncle is now in a better place, and he would want to go on with my life, instead of staying stuck. His passing was extremely difficult on my family and I however we have learnt and are still learning to cope with it. This taught me how to be a stronger person and to even be a more peaceful and understanding person because everything happens for a reason.
You are required to spend the next year of your life in either the past or the future. What year would you travel and why?	I would spend the following year living in the future, because there is no reason to be back in the past. The past happens for a reason and I think that we should not stay stuck in the past but instead we should learn from it. I would travel two years into the past because I would want to see where I start university at and how much I would have changed.
What would you say is your greatest talent or skill? how have you developed and demonstrated that talent over time	I have many skills, like encouraging others and myself (being positive), I consider writing a talent and skill of my own, and managing my time. These skills interrelate with other and I would say school is a big factor because it is how I developed these skills. I developed these skills overtime in my entire educational career and I will continue to have these skills later on in life.
What have you done to make your school or community a better place	I am apart of the MUN team, the model united nations team it is a mock of the UN and in it I enhanced my talent of writing and negotiating in different ways. I have also been on the honor roll, painting a high overall GPA in my academics.
What makes you happy?	The little things in life make me happy. Experiences and intangible things make me happy, because I am learning and taking in new knowledge that I can apply later in the future. Traveling especially makes me happy because I love seeing new things and discovering new cultures/things to do etc. Seeing my friends and family happy makes me happy. Many things make me happy and I am glad to say it is not just one thing.
